>

> King Krillin had a beautiful daughter. Her name was Marron.

Everything the girl touched, would melt. No matter what, metal, wood, plastic, etc. Everything Marron touched would melt! Because of this, men were afraid of her and nobody would dare to marry her.

> The princess Marron was very sad. No one came near her because they were afraid. She cried to her self at night because of this. The king saw this and became worried for her. He needed a heir soon also. So everyone in the kingdom was very sad.

> One day kami told the king, "If your daughter touches one thing that would not melt in her hands, her symptom will be cured." The Krillin was overjoyed. day, he held a competition, any man that can bring his daughter an object that would not melt, gets to marry her and inherit the king's wealth.

>  Three young princes took up the challenge. Their names were: Ubuu, Goten, and Trunks. First was Prince Ubuu, he brought a huge diamond, thinking that diamond is the hardest and will not melt. But alas, once the princess touched it, it melted! Prince Ubuu went away sadly. Second was Prince Goten, brought a very hard alloy but the same thing happened..... so he too went away. Finally it was Prince Trunks turn. He told the princess "Put your hand in my pocket and feel it." The Marron did as told, though turning red.... Tada! It did not melt! The king was overjoyed! And, Prince Trunks lived happily with the princess ever after.....

>  Question: What was the object?

>

>

>  Answer: M&M's Chocolate, melts in your mouth and not in your hand!
